

Task 4

Read the texts below. Match choices (A-H) to (17-21). There are three choices you do not need to use. Write your answers on the separate answer sheet.

17

Locally grown food

- ✓ good for the economy ✓ good for the earth
- ✓ good for your health

But your busy schedule might prevent you visiting us.

With Online Farmers,

Place an order when you need and have it delivered to a convenient location.

You click, the farmers pick!

For more information, visit www.farmersnearby.com

18

INSPIRED GEMS

We buy unwanted vintage earrings, rings, bracelets and necklaces, coins too.

IMMEDIATE PAYMENT

All transactions are completely confidential

Call in for a free estimate,
9.00 - 17.00
The Arcade,
22C Browning Street
Manchester

19

Get all essential worldwide travel services in one place and

- order a taxi
- hire a car
- find accommodation
- book flights and trains
- check timetables
- call emergency numbers wherever you are

More cities available soon

Download BELIKEALOCAL now and start planning your next getaway!

20

Book your package now and get

- free full breakfast
- dinner in our award-winning restaurant
- access to our rooftop pool and fitness centre

- For a limited time only
- Cancel free of charge up to 24 hours before the day of arrival

21

*Next Sunday
Village car park*

Car boot sale

Come along and grab a bargain!
Clothing, furniture, appliances, and much more!
Refreshments available
Free entry 9.00-14.00

All profits will go to the Village Community Centre

Which of the advertisements is about

?

- A a special offer
- B a travel agency
- C a jewellery store
- D selling valuables
- E an online shopping site
- F a charity event
- G an app
- H a gym subscription

Task 5

Read the text below. For questions (22-26) choose the correct answer (A, B, C or D). Write your answers on the separate answer sheet.

Land Down Under

Planning your trip to Australia? Or just dreaming of visiting this fascinating continent someday to see all its natural wonders with your own eyes? Then, you must have already done some research into Australia's major attractions or even estimated how much this trip might cost you. However, have you considered any possible pitfalls you may encounter on your arrival there? Not yet? Now it's time to discuss some so that no confusion or embarrassment will spoil your vacation in the country.

Australia is vast, which greatly influences the climate across the whole continent. So, if you expect to enjoy only pleasant summer days travelling from one place to another, be ready to face a variety of weather conditions ranging from heavy rains to unbearable heat waves. Thus, summers in the west of Australia are very dry, while in the east, this season is pretty humid. Summer temperatures in Tasmania rarely rise above 23 degrees Celsius, whereas in Darwin – in northern Australia – it's usually boiling hot all year long.

Although Australia covers a wide range of climate zones, there is one thing that never changes on the whole continent – the amount of ultraviolet radiation. The ozone layer over Australia is thinner, which is typical of the North and South Poles and nearby territories; therefore, Australians get much more solar radiation than people in other countries. On the one hand, this can provide the whole continent with renewable solar energy. On the other hand, it poses real risks to human health – sunbathing or long walks outdoors can result in severe sunburns, so make sure you put on enough sunscreen before exposing your skin to sunlight.

Prior to visiting Australia, many tourists view it as a giant safari park full of wildlife and adventures all around. There is no denying that this continent is home to truly unique (and often dangerous) species of flora and fauna; however, don't expect to see kangaroos or wombats roaming the streets! Like in any other country, urbanization has turned authentic ecosystems into busy cities and towns, making animals migrate to safer and more isolated habitats. So, if you are really keen to explore exotic Australian nature, take a guided tour to one of Australia's wildlife parks far from big settlements where you'll definitely see the whole variety of Australian landscapes and their inhabitants.

And surely, apart from the warnings related to climate and nature, there are some other things you should be well aware of when making the necessary travel arrangements, such as booking accommodation or hiring a car. On most real estate sites advertising flats for rent, you will see surprisingly low prices. Just bear in mind that this is the rent not per month, but the money you'll be supposed to pay for accommodation weekly. Second, like in the UK, Australians drive on the left side of the road, so don't forget to look right when crossing a street there. And lastly, safety and well-being. Irrespective of the danger the locals may find themselves in, they dial three zeros. And right after that, the operator either helps them via phone or directs them to the police, ambulance or fire departments.

When at some point of your journey you start to feel that you've seen all the country's spectacular sites and experienced all of its adventures, try skiing in the Australian Alps. You may be surprised to find out that Australia has a few ski resorts that can offer as much joy and excitement as their best European rivals. And although many people associate the country with endless summers and heat, it can be quite snowy and cold in the mountains. So, if you want to enjoy winter sports there, set off to the ski resort Mt. Buller, the best value for money, in one of the winter months – June, July or August.

22 Which statement describes summers in Australia?

- A Eastern areas of Australia are arid.
- B In the south it's hotter than in the north.
- C In the north, the weather varies from month to month.
- D Summer weather depends on a particular area of the country.

23 What is TRUE about ultraviolet radiation in Australia?

- A It's advantageous to spend lots of time outdoors.
- B Its amount on the continent is moderate.
- C It's a valuable natural resource.
- D Its amount is not the same across the country.

24 Where are you most likely to see the unique flora and fauna of Australia?

- A in remote territories
- B in severely inhabited areas
- C in its one and only safari park
- D in homes and houses of urban citizens

25 Which of the following is FALSE according to PARAGRAPH 5?

- A Australian traffic rules are similar to those of another country.
- B Real estate agencies announce prices for annual payments.
- C Accommodation for rent isn't that cheap in Australia.
- D There is a universal emergency number in Australia.

26 What do we learn about skiing in Australia?

- A It's extremely costly to ski in Mt. Buller.
- B The best time for skiing is Australian summer.
- C Australian ski resorts can compete with those in Europe.
- D There is a considerable number of places in Australia to go skiing.

Task 6

Read the texts below. Match choices (A-H) to (27-32). There are two choices you do not need to use. Write your answers on the separate answer sheet.

How Different Brand Names Appeared27*Vodafone

Now, this is an international telecom company that has millions of customers in various countries, including Ukraine. It was founded in 1983 in the UK and was first called Racal Strategic Radio Ltd. After Racal Strategic Radio Ltd had merged with another telecom company, Millicom, the company changed several names until it finally got its present one. By the way, Vodafone was composed of "voice", "data" and "phone", which reflect the services the company provides.

28Starbucks

What we now know as a network of trendy coffee bars, which attract tourists from all over the world, started as a small coffee shop in Seattle. It was opened by three friends – two teachers and a writer. While brainstorming the ideas to name their coffee shop, the writer, Gordon Bowker, spotted a small town Starbo on the map. This made him think of captain Starbuck from the novel Moby Dick. Consequently, the shop was named Starbucks and later developed into a big and profitable business.

29Coca-Cola

The story of Coca-Cola began in 1885 when John Pemberton invented a drink whose recipe was based on two key ingredients – an extract from the cocoa leaf and the kola nut. So, it won't take you long to guess how the world-famous brand name appeared. However, the inventor slightly modified the name of the drink by replacing "K" in "Kola" with "C" to make the logo more visually appealing. Even though the cocoa leaf is no longer used for producing Coca-Cola, the drink's name hasn't changed over time.

30

Google

At present, Google is by far the most popular search engine in the World Wide Web whose brand name is really catchy; however, did you know that at first, this search engine was called BackRub? It is believed that later, the inventors of the search engine didn't like its initial name, and their friend suggested the alternative – Googol – the word used in mathematics to define figure 1 followed by 100 zeros. Finally, Googol was transformed into Google – the brand name we are very well familiar with now.

31

Nike

The company was founded in 1964 as a distributor of training shoes manufactured in Japan and was called Blue Ribbon Sports. In 1971, its founders decided to start producing their own training shoes. Soon after that, their first sports footwear was ready. But when it came to creating the brand name, none of the suggested options – Dimension Six, Peregrine, and Bengal – appealed to all of the business partners. Finally, just before the shipping of the newly produced shoes, one of the employees came up with the iconic Nike, the name of the Greek goddess of victory.

32

Apple

Have you ever wondered how the well-known brand name appeared? In fact, there is a wide variety of ideas, each of which seems to be convincing. Some believe that it's connected with Isaac Newton and the apple that fell upon the scientist's head and led him to the world-changing discovery. Others assume that it's about the forbidden fruit from the Garden of Eden. Many sources state that it originated from Steve Job's passion for apples and his intention to make the brand name catchy and easy to spot among their competitors in the technology market. The latter assumption is regarded as the most trustworthy, though.

Which brand name _____ ?

- A emerged from the name of a famous scientist
- B was a last-minute decision
- C is thought to have different theories of origin
- D resulted from blending several words
- E was inspired by the fictional character
- F comes from a scientific term
- G was initially used by a Japanese shoe-making company
- H initially indicated the product's components

Task 7

Read the text below. Choose from (A-H) the one which best fits each space (33-38). Write your answers on the separate answer sheet.

Fairtrade

When going shopping for food in a local grocery store or an outdoor market, check if any of the products on offer have a round green-and-blue label on their package. "What is that and why is it important?" you may ask. Let's find out what is so special about the core FAIRTRADE Mark and why the goods (33)_____.

Fairtrade is a global non-profit organisation (34)_____ and provides a number of economic, social and environmental benefits. Compared to most food industry giants, small farming businesses make too little money by (35)_____, whose wholesale and retail prices are lower than the prices for mass-produced goods. Fairtrade Foundation has established a set of regulations that help small businesses promote their agricultural produce and make it more sellable. This saves many local enterprises from financial losses or bankruptcy.

Along with supporting small farming businesses, this non-profit organisation protects workers' rights and ensures (36)_____. Among other Fairtrade policies, special attention is paid to prohibiting child labour.

And last but not least, this global movement aims (37)_____ by setting specific standards, which include using eco-friendly practices of growing crops, sustainable use of natural resources and waste management. All these are supposed to reduce environmental pollution, greenhouse effect and positively affect climate on the planet.

Although the Fairtrade project has already done a lot to make a difference, there are still a number of areas where the foundation needs (38)_____ and raise people's environmental and economic awareness.

- A that share more information about global warming
- B that they earn competitive salaries and have good working conditions
- C to minimise the negative impact of food industries on the environment
- D to campaign for fair treatment of human labour
- E seeing how many goals can be achieved through this programme
- F that works towards empowering small farming businesses
- G selling their products
- H featuring this logo are worth buying

Task 8

Read the texts below. For questions (39-48) choose the correct answer (A, B, C or D). Write your answers on the separate answer sheet.

City Tours with Locals

First time in a new city? Know nothing about this tourist (39) _____? Wondering where to taste the most delicious local food, which places to see and which to avoid? Need assistance with navigating the city?

Locals always know best! From the classic landmarks that everyone talks about to (40) _____ - the beaten-track roads that lead to the attractions and must-sees without the crowds. (41) _____ facts, local stories, and great tips & tricks - the choice is yours! Book your private (42) _____ that will help you get acquainted with the city, its people and culture. The locals know their fascinating city like the (43) _____ of their hand and will help you fall in love with it, having created the perfect itinerary for you to make this experience unforgettable.

39	A	sightseeing	B	destination	C	itinerary	D	accommodation
40	A	on	B	in	C	of	D	off
41	A	history	B	historic	C	historical	D	historian
42	A	trip	B	tour	C	journey	D	voyage
43	A	part	B	side	C	back	D	front

Making Your Budget

Are you the one who plans everything, or do you cross a bridge when you (44) _____ to it? Are you going to spend your student scholarship wisely or (45) _____ your money down the drain and then tighten your belt?

What you will need to know is how to budget money in order to avoid (46) _____ difficulties at short notice.

Make a habit of calculating your income and monitoring your expenses. Try the 50/30/20 rule as a manageable budgeting plan, (47) _____ 50% of your income on needs, leaving 30% for wants and 20% for saving. It can be challenging to separate wants from needs, but remember that needs are the necessities you can't live without, like food, housing or transportation, whereas travelling, entertainment or gifts are wants.

Your budget is not a straitjacket that keeps you from enjoying your life. It's a tool to help you never run (48) _____ money.

44	A	get	B	go	C	lead	D	reach
45	A	pour	B	put	C	throw	D	dig
46	A	economic	B	economical	C	financial	D	profitable
47	A	wasting	B	spending	C	borrowing	D	lending
48	A	through	B	out	C	down	D	out of

Task 9

Read the texts below. For questions (49-58) choose the correct answer (A, B, C or D). Write your answers on the separate answer sheet.

Shopping Tours

Shop 'til you drop on an exclusive shopping tour at your next destination. Visit local boutiques and markets where you can find unique items for a souvenir that (49) _____ for a lifetime. Discover famous flea markets with all those beautiful antiques and vintage stuff. You can't go wrong shopping there, no matter what you do!

Find the time for your personalised shopping experience in fashion designers' studios and showrooms, (50) _____ fashion stylists come (51) _____ clothing, jewellery and handbags for their photoshoots and celebrity clients. You will visit the places where brand-new collections are on display before (52) _____ for stores.

Your personal shopper guide will help you find avant-garde outfits and styles (53) _____ are impeccable at the office, for parties and lunches with friends. They will take you to the shops where clothing and accessories are flattering, stylish, and budget-friendly.

49	A	last	B	will have lasted	C	will last	D	is lasting
50	A	what	B	which	C	that	D	where
51	A	pick out	B	to pick out	C	picking out	D	picked out
52	A	produce	B	to produce	C	producing	D	being produced
53	A	that	B	whose	C	where	D	in which

The Future of Shopping

The COVID-19 pandemic, (54) _____ the greatest challenge we have faced since World War II, (55) _____ the shopping game board by the end of this decade. The most successful retailers will be those (56) _____ connect with purchasers in new ways.

The tech-enabled shops of the future will undoubtedly provide a better shopping experience, and customers will increasingly be shifting their spending online, migrating to e-commerce.

And the physical shops will be only offering enjoyable sensory experiences of touching, smelling and trying on products. Shopping centres should turn themselves inside out and become more like city centres with all the things they offer – an amazing blend of community-based retailing, food and beverage and performance venues. Otherwise, buyers may reasonably wonder why not (57) _____ online shopping platforms instead of wasting time in crowded malls.

So, there's no time (58) _____ due to the recent declaration of one of the top executives, "We've accomplished two years of digital transformation in two months."

54	A	that	B	which	C	whose	D	-
55	A	will change	B	will be changing	C	will have changed	D	will have been changing
56	A	-	B	that	C	whose	D	where
57	A	surf	B	surfing	C	to surf	D	surfing
58	A	lose	B	losing	C	to lose	D	lost

